JONATHAN ÖSTLÜND composer

Jonathan Östlund received his BA and MA in Composition at Luleå University of Technology, Sweden, and has studied under the artistic guidance of Prof. Rolf Martinsson, Prof. Jan Sandstrom and Prof. Sverker Jullander, so far completing more than 100 works, including several orchestral pieces, a Piano Concerto and a Violin Concerto.

Among his recent achievements are the selection and participation with several works in London Schubert Players' Invitation to Composers Project; an international composition competition, which resulted in CD releases, work publications and public performances in the U.K., France and Romania throughout 2010 and 2011.

In 2012 he was selected as Finalist of the Oslo Grieg International Composers' Competition and won the Public Choice Award with the Sonata for Cello & Piano, 'Night-struck', premiered by Alexander Zagorinsky and Einar Steen-Nøkleberg, and he was awarded the First Prize in the Leicester Symphony Orchestra International Composers' Composition for his 'Celebration Fanfare & Procession', which was premiered during the Orchestra's 90th Season Gala.

In 2013 'Lumière d'Étoiles' received its world premiere in the U.K.and a French Premiere, along with 'Rêve et Lune'. That same year he was selected as Finalist in the Composers' Competition of the Festival Mondial De L'Image Sous-Marine.

The year 2014 brought the music of Jonathan Östlund to the Cadogan Hall stage with 'Lumières', a rich programme incorporating 10 of his pieces, in various constellations for flute, piano and string quartet.

In that same year, his Cello Sonata received a Russian premiere, in the interpretation of Alexander Zagorinsky and Einar Steen-Nøkleberg, during the Moscow International Contemporary Music Autumn Festival.

In 2015, Jonathan Östlund was a winner at the IBLA Grand Prize in the category 'Most Distinguished Musician' and received a Special Mention for his piece 'Ethereal Night's Ascendance' for Symphony Orchestra.

The double album 'Lunaris', presenting 31 tracks of Östlund's chamber music works, was released by Divine Art in 2016 to critical acclaim, the same year in which his piece 'Winter Cathedral' for Grand Organ was premiered during the LFCCM, in London and his piece 'Lune d'Été', commissioned by the La Côte Flûte Festival, is premiered by Vega Ensemble in Switzerland.

In 2017, Marilina Tzelepi premiered Östlund's Piano Concertino 'Silver Cathedral', in Athens, Greece, with Faidra Giannelou conducting OperArtLab & Chamber Symphony Orchestra - and, together with Yannis Kaikis, as part of Duo Anasa, Östlund's 'Sonata in Blue' for Trombone and Piano. Yury Revich and Matthieu Esnult premiere 'Minuit et Mistrale' in Vienna, Austria.

In 2018, several works were premiered, including a preview-performance from the trio piece 'Sonatine Lyrique' by Trio Tempora at the Salzburg Mozarteum, in Austria; 'Favola' and 'Moonlight Weave' by Riccardo Bozolo at Skeppar Karls Salong, in Stockholm; and 'Night of June' (for Mixed Choir, text by Harry Martinson) by the Rilke Ensemble, in Gothenburg, Sweden.

In 2019, he released his second album with Divine Art Records, 'Voyages' and in 2020 his third album, 'Mistral' featuring orchestral, chamber, vocal and organ works. The early part of 2020 also sees the world premiere of five new works set for soprano, flute, piano and string orchestra, in Ascona, Switzerland, under the lead of conductor Andreas Laake.

Jonathan is currently preparing the world premiere performances of his Concerto for Violin & Symphony Orchestra, featured on 'Mistral', and that of his Concerto for Piano & Symphony Orchestra which will be featured on a future album release.

MISTRAL

'Mistral' surrounds the listener with its beauty, which is gradually unveiled yet remains ever-mysterious, in a weave of unexpected intensities. On this new journey bearing the signature of Jonathan Östlund we encounter new landscapes, stories, concepts, thoughts and dreams - and new meeting points with the other-worldly. A sensation of intimacy is build upon deepened introspections, which resound in a direct manner with the cosmos.

The other-worldly landscape, and its Mistral gust of wind, may be explored in multiple ways and sequences, perceptions open the door..., for each person in a unique way, and we stand to observe and to be observed, while observing and feeling.

Légendes de La Mer, The Forgotten Garden, and Aquarelle may speak both of days of old, time immemorial and the longing for lost knowledge, as well as of the strive for serenity within the storms on life's course.

Saga and Paganini Fantasia bring additional elements of bewilderment, and hint at time contraction and expansion, they are present along our journey as sparkling points of intersection..., while the two texts, by Erik Axel Karlfeldt and by Erik Gustaf Geijer, bring forth further contrasts between the earthly realm and the realm of the beyond.

The Concerto for Violin & Symphony Orchestra, with its introspective flow of heightened awareness is like a distant calling..., ever-present, everpersonal. We are then lured into a dance of dreams, Morpheus Metamorphoses, and may notice a turning point; a point when all may overlap and overflow. Nocturnia – Ethereal Night's Ascendance [an alternative version of the orchestral piece awarded in the IBLA Competition], featuring piano obligato and the splendid chorus of the Moscow Bow Tie Orchestra, concludes the programme on a solemn tone, while acting also as 'a beginning'; it speaks of uninterrupted journeys, of that which lies out-of-time, and therefore of Life.

Text of 'The Forgotten Garden' (tracks 7 & 8) from 'Fridolin's Garden of Delight' [Ur Fridolins lustgard] by Erik Axel Karlfeldt (1864 – 1931) translated into English by Jonathan Östlund, and narrated by Evelyne Bologa Cimoca passionate bucolica.

The wind is playing on its string,

Will you wander over meadows green, maiden Melancholica?

The day is darkening in the north, along the path, dew-less, dry, the gentle hum of bees goes forth.

If you wander under cradle moon, maiden Melancholica,

its shimmer plays upon your skin as on pale majolica

To a glass for wine of dreams, you are shaped, weak and thin: you are twilight-wind and mandolin.

Erik Axel Karlfeldt

Evelyne Bologa Cimoca has studied Art, Media and Design; in London at the University of the Arts and at Westminster University, and in Sweden at Umeå Institute of Design.

She blends her art practice with cultural management, and has co-produced the albums: 'Lunaris' [2016], 'Voyages' [2019], and 'Mistral' [2020], released under Divine Art.

Evelyne shares the journey of life and art with Jonathan Östlund.

Alone I proceed ahead on my path. Further and further stretches the way. Alas, in the distance veiled is my goal! The days are dissolved, and the heavens nocturnal. Soon only stars, the eternal, I see.

I do not regret the vanishing day. No longer the night frightens me, while from the love which goes through the world, one beam has entered into my soul! Text of 'Nocturnia – Ethereal Night's Ascendance' (track 12): 'The Night-sky' by Erik Gustaf Geijer (1783 – 1847) [translated into English by Jonathan Östlund]

NATALY GRINES piano EVGENY BRAKHMAN piano

Famous Russian pianists Nataly Grines and Evgeny Brakhman professionally grew up in Nizhny Novgorod, where they played their first duo concert at the age of 8. Nataly and Evgeny both graduated from the Glinka National Conservatoire in Nizhny Novgorod. They are active as concert artists as well as being piano and chamber music professors.

In 2017 they were on tour in Taiwan, performing the Concerto for two pianos by Poulenc, together with Taiwan Soloists Symphony Orchestra, in major halls, including at the Taipei National Concert Hall.

Nataly Grines plays in various chamber ensembles. Her chamber partners are violinists Sergei Ostrovsky, Alena Baeva, Daniel Lozacovitj, Vladimir Ivanov, Ilya Gaisin, Elena Korzhenevich; violist Daniil Grishin; cellists Evgeny Rumyantsev, Anastasya Kobeikina; clarinetists Igor Fedorov and Valentin Urupin; pianists Alexei Lubimov, Igor Zhukov, Evgeny Brakhman and others.

She has performed on tours in different cities of Russia, including concerts at the Grand Hall of Moscow Conservatory and Bolshoi Theatre, and abroad (Italy, Spain, Austria, Bosnia, USA, Taiwan, South Africa). In 2016 she took part in Solsona Music Festival and Academy (Spain), where she performed in more than 10 concerts, with different programs, over two weeks.

Performing in piano duo with her sister Olga Grines, she received special awards named after Tatiana Gaidamovich at the Taneev international chamber music competition. The duo Grines took part in many major festivals in Russia, including Moscow and Saint Petersburg conservatoires. Nataly was awarded a diploma of the best accompanist at the XIII Tchaikovsky competition in Moscow.

The Russian-born pianist Evgeny Brakhman played his first recital at the age of 7, at his local music school. Later, in 2001, at the age of only 20, he graduated from the Nizhny Novgorod Conservatoire, in the class of Prof. V. Starynin, and took post-graduate courses at the Moscow Conservatoire in 2003, being one of the last students of the legendary Lev Naumov. In 1996 he won his first international piano competition, the Concours Musical de France, in Paris. Between 1997and1998 he held a scholarship from the M. Rostropovich Foundation, and, along with other top scholars, he took part in the Russian Music School Festival at Carnegie Hall, in New York.

Further recognition came in 1999, being awarded the first prize at the Dino Ciani International Piano Competition at La Scala di Milano; the jury was presided by Riccardo Muti and included Martha Argerich, Michel Beroff, Alexander Lonquich, Fou Ts'Ong, Sergei Dorensky and Fanny Waterman. Afterwards, he played recitals at La Scala di Milano, Zurich Tonhalle, Wien Konzerthaus, and attended the most prestigious festivals in Europe.

His awards at the competitions in Cleveland, New Orleans, Rio de Janeiro and Tbilisi brought additional collaborations with top orchestras. In 2011-12 he successfully toured with the Moscow Symphony in South Korea (including at the Seoul Art Center), he performed recitals and chamber music in USA and Brazil, Austria and Switzerland, while in Russia he took part in the famous festival Stars on Baikal, in Irkutsk, under the artistic direction of Denis Matsuev.

As soloist, he has performed with top orchestras including the Orchestra of La Scala di Milano, Bournemouth Symphony, Royal Scottish Symphony, and Vienna Chamber Orchestra. As chamber musician he hascollaborated with top musicians, such as Dora Schwarzberg, Anastasia Chebotareva, Denis Shapovalov, Boris Andrianov, Mark Drobinsky. In 2002 EMI Classics released his first CD, under the title 'Martha Argerich Presents Evgeny Brakhman'. This CD consisted of sonatas by Mozart, Beethoven and Liszt, and was awarded the Diapason d'Or.

In 2003 EMI released his second CD, a live recording from Lugano Festival. At present Evgeny Brakhman, prizewinner of more than 10 international piano competitions worldwide, performs regularly and extensively, having had concerts in more than 20 countries, so far. In Russia he regularly performs in Moscow, Yekaterinburg, Ivanovo, Nizhny Novgorod and in many other cities. He is a professor at the Glinka State Conservatoire in Nizhny Novgorod, Russia.

RACHAELEIIZABETH COHEN flute

Born in Chicago and currently living in Montreal, Rachael Elizabeth Cohen completed her Bachelor of Music in Flute Performance at McGill University in 2018, with a minor in Music Education. She then started her Master's in Flute Performance at the Conservatoire de Musique de Montréal.

Alongside pursuing her master's degree, she is the flute teacher at F.A.C.E. Elementary and Secondary School and plays with various chamber and orchestral ensembles around the Montréal area.

Rachael is also an active volunteer and music teacher with music programs in Haiti and serves on the board of the organization BLUME Haiti.

FÉLIX FOSTER hom

Félix Foster is a Montreal-based horn player who is passionate about the forgotten repertoire of classical music. Whether solo, ensemble or orchestra, he always tries to introduce the new repertoire to the public. Each session, he integrates less known pieces in his repertoire. In recent years, he has performed the Concertino for Horn and Orchestra by Jan Koetsier, a Dutch composer, and has regularly played the Nocturne No.2 for horn and harp by the French composer Frédéric Duvernoy.

In addition to the solo repertoire, Felix is perfecting his repertoire of chamber music. With various ensembles, he explores repertoire from the Renaissance up to Contemporary music. At the Vincent d'Indy Music School, under the direction of trombonist and sackclerk Dominique Lortie, he played several pieces by Gabrielli, Frescobaldi and Monteverdi, in arrangements for brass ensemble and organ. At the University of Montreal, he is part of the ensemble of brass and horn ensemble. Within these ensembles, he had the privilege of creating several works including: Souvenances by Hugo St-Denis and Calydon's Walk of the Boar by Geoffroy Michaud-Beaulieu.

Félix is part of the University of Montreal Orchestra (OUM) and the Montreal Student Musician Orchestra (OPMEM). Since 2018, he has held the position of music librarian of OPMEM. He is also part of the artistic committee of the orchestra.

Félix is currently studying with Louis-Philippe Marsolais at the Université de Montréal. He plans to achieve a bachelor's degree in classical performance and then pursue his studies abroad. When he was younger, he studied with Pierre Savoie. During masterclasses and summer internships, he had the chance to work with several renowned horn players; Sarah Willis, Jeff Nelsen, James Sommerville, Kerry Turner and many others. In 2017, Félix participated in the Orford Art Center wind octet course, under the direction of Stéphane Lévesque.

In addition to his work as an interpreter, Félix Foster is a copyist and musical arranger. As an arranger, he transcribed many pieces for ensemble of horns, brass ensemble and wind quintet. His most notable arrangements are: Pavane pour une infante défunte by Ravel (arranged for wind quintet and harp), Carmichael's Stardust (for solo horn and horn octet), and Grieg's Peer Gynt suite (for brass ensemble).

MYRIAM HIDBER-DICKINSON flute

Born and raised in Switzerland, Myriam Hidber-Dickinson received a BA in Music under the guidance of F. Renggli at the Schaffhausen Conservatory and a MA under the guidance of M. Stucki at the Zurich Musikhochschule. In 1996, 1997, 2001, and 2005 she gave masterclasses, and performed at various music conservatories, universities and orchestras in Brazil and Angola, and in numerous cities throughout the Indonesian Archipelago.

In addition to her teaching duties at various music schools in the Zurich area, and to giving masterclasses in Switzerland, Brazil and in the USA, she is continuing her studies with Philipp Racine in flute at the Zurich Conservatory, and with Cosimo Lampis in percussion and ethnomusicology.

She has exceptional versatility and a growing international fan club, in admiration of a virtuosic flutist who has taken the time and effort to explore her repertoire from the inside out: harmony, structure, color, mood, style, ornamentation, agogic, vibrato.

She has long since moved through the standard repertoire for flute together with piano, guitar, harp, chamber ensemble, and orchestra; and into Baroque music on period instruments, lesser-known works of the Classic and Romantic (especially from countries outside of western Europe), contemporary music, jazz improvisation, African percussion, and in recent years has had a distinct interest in the vast universe of Brazilian music (and in particular in Choro). She is also known for her work in multi-media: with recitation, with themes, with sculptures in an outdoor setting, at vernisages (improvisations to individual paintings), at conferences, and with music in a business conference setting.

She has a very active performing career, both as a soloist; performing with various orchestras in Switzerland, Ukraine, Serbia and Bulgaria, and in various music settings (with modern as well as historical instruments) in Switzerland, Brazil, Italy, Austria, Germany, the USA and France. www.myriamflute.ch

CHRISTINE ELIZABETH HOERNING clarinet

Christine Elizabeth Hoerning is a native New Yorker, and Montreal-based clarinetist. A 'doubler' from the age of 12, her primary instruments include clarinets, saxophones, bassoon, oboe, and flute. While residing in her native New York, Christine worked extensively in pit orchestras for off-Broadway productions. Christine was the winner of the 2012 Long Island Chamber Music Festival Concerto Competition, she substituted with the Northshore Symphony Orchestra, and was an assistant and woodwind coach for the Long Island Youth Orchestra.

Since arriving in Montreal, in 2012, she is principal clarinetist with l'Orchestre Philharmonique des Musiciens de Montreal. In collaboration with the Montreal Symphony and des Quartier des Spectacles she performed as a soloist for the promotion of the Montreal Symphony's 'Viree Classique Summer Concert Series'. She holds the second clarinet position with l'Orchestre des Musiciens du Monde, and has substituted with the Kingston Symphony and the Orchestra of Northern New York.

Christine was invited to hold presentations at the Crane School of Music, discussing performance, practice & organization as a young professional. She appeared as a guest artist at The Annual Clarinet Summit at the Crane School of Music in 2011. In 2013 she was a featured alumna in a S.U.N.Y Potsdam publication which was also featured by McGill University.

An avid performer of contemporary music, Christine performed with the Musical Theatre Montreal, and with Montreal Nouvelle Musique at the 2015 Nuit Blanche Festival. She performs frequently with composer/conductor Andre Pappathomas and l'Ensemble Mrurta Mersti. In conjunction with Opera Immediat she has performed in the orchestras of the popular operas Die Fledermaus, The Elixir of Love, Aïda and Carmen.

Christine joined the opera orchestra at LyricArezzo in Italy, in 2014, for their in concert performance of Puccini's La Bohème under the baton of Maestro Stefano Pagliano. Most recently she premiered a new opera entitled 'Slideshow' with acclaimed Quebecoise mezzo-soprano Marie-Annick Beliveau at La Chapelle Theatre in Montreal. As a freelancer Christine worked with a variety of musicians and ensembles, spanning various genres, having had performances at the National Arts Center in Ottawa, recording all wind tracks for a jazz fusion album with singer Tom Mauro, and making guest appearances with the gypsy-folk band Balkan Kefana.

She is the founder and artistic director of the Verisimo Collective, a chamber music ensemble which specializes in the merging of chamber music and film. The ensemble performs classical and contemporary chamber music accompanied by original films designed specifically for the ensemble and inspired by the music.

JONATHAN ÖSTLUND – LUNARIS

'Lunaris' (Divine Art, 2016) DDA 21226 Double CD programme:

Lunaris Theme I (voice/piano), Opus Pocus Fantienne (flute/piano), Phantasion (flute/piano), Air dans l'air (flute solo), Lumière d'étoiles (piano solo), Fantasia on Scarborough Fair (flute/cello/piano), Rencontre (flute/piano), The Wizard (flute/violin/cello/piano), Rêverie - Jeux de pluie (string quartet), Night-struck (cello/piano), Winter Vigil (piano solo), Rêve et Lune (voice/piano), Miroir d'un mirage (piano solo), La Féerique et Pierrot (voice/piano), The Frog Pond (bassoon/piano), Music at Moonrise (voice/violin/piano), Lunaris Theme II (voice/violin/piano)

"Östlund's music possesses the most vital ingredient for a composer: He makes you want to listen to him. Östlund possesses a notably poetic spirit, with a touch of sentiment and melancholy. He balances this with an impish wit that is really quite delightful.

Jonathan Östlund is an engaging composer who clearly has a bright future ahead of him. Anyone who relishes lyricism and a poetic spirit should find much to enjoy in this album."

Dave Saemann (Fanfare)

"Östlund's signature, like Debussy and Schumann in the great tradition, merges atmosphere, mystery, fantasy, and fairy tale. The sensation of Nachtmusik is so strong that one can approach these two discs as a single narrative of encounters by moonlight.

[Östlund's] personal vocabulary—striking, often repetitive rhythms, dashes of Shostakovich and Prokofiev, diatonic harmonies that bend in other directions, and remembrances of vocal traditions from Arabia and the Orient that decorate the lyrical line with melismatic flourishes—is markedly original.

Östlund's artist's bio lists a clutch of awards and festivals where his punning wit and earthy naturalism have been welcome. I'm happy to welcome those qualities, too, and feel enriched by stepping into his world of fancy free."

Huntley Dent (Fanfare)

"Östlund writes in a tonal manner and his evocative compositions have no reservations; creating soundworlds of fantasy, Östlund seems to have no end to his reservoir of inspiration."

Remy Frank (Pizzicato): translated by Stephen Sutton

"There's just too much going on to do it justice [in a short review]. The sleeve does a good job, suggestive as it is of dreamy, other-worldly soundscapes. A fascinating piece of work, guaranteed to make your dream-like reveries seem all the more fantastical." Jeremy Condliffe (The Chronicle)

"Jonathan Östlund is one of those contemporary composers who writes music with natural poetic melodies and highly sophisticated harmonies, blending tradition with contemporary expression.[...]. The music flows with extremely flexible interpretation, with both dramatic climaxes and romantically soft sections, with variations in color, texture, emotion and narrative expression. Full of passion, emotion, fatality..."

Jan Hocek (His Voice): translated By Stephen Sutton

"Jonathan Östlund is a young Swedish composer who is winning acclaim for his attractive, imaginative and accessible music. He is being championed by some of Europe's best musicians, several of whom have come together to perform on this album of chamber music and solo instrumental pieces inspired by nature. Evoking the magic of night in all its guises from the dark to the whimsical this lyrical new music has an individual sound and is in turn picturesque and witty. Timeless and sophisticated music." John Pitt (New Classics)

"[...] the decidedly French Impressionism-fragranced Phantasion for flute and piano, performed in the most miraculous manner here, gives us a clue as to what lies at the heart of Östlund's expression. [...]. Östlund clearly has much to say, and he says it in a consistently interesting manner. Fully worthy of investigation." Colin Clarke (Fanfare)

"Although we recognize Impressionism and Romanticism Östlund's expression is strong at all times and completely his own." Sofia Lilly Jönsson (Svenska Dagbladet)

"Jonathan Östlund is a composer who reveals an ability to create works that are magical, playful and energetic but always with a distinctive sound, a sound that will surely appeal to a wide audience. [...]. Winter Vigil, a piece that slowly develops through some quite lovely passages, conjuring some very fine images whilst giving the impression of an improvisation. At times the music gains an almost Bach like flow before rippling phrases lead to the coda. This is a particularly fine piece." Bruce Reader (The Classical Reviewer)

"Jonathan Ostlund's music has this rare emotional freshness, which I really appreciate in music. His style gives us, performers, a lot of ways for searching colors, timbres, images, all that we call "interpretation".

Jonathan is a very kind and open person, I am happy to know him!" Evgheny Brakhman

"It has been a pleasure for us to be part of this project! Jonathan Östlund's music inspires us, reason why we wanted him to help expand the flute & bassoon repertoire." Duo Almira

"My favourite part of playing Jonathan's "Sonatine Lyrique" is the third movement, in which I imagine walking in a forest in the autumn. The clarinet's trills portray birds singing, and the piano's long arpeggios feel like the sunlight shining through the leaves of tall trees. The cello's folkloric elements bring an additional ancient atmosphere." Emese Badi

> "It was a moving moment for me to record Jonathan Östlund's poetic, highly musical, and flutistic work, 'Air dans l'Air'. Thank you for your music, which comes from the bottom of your heart and I'm sure will touch many hearts." Myriam Hidber-Dickinson

> > "We found "Gates of Northern Lights" to be a challenging and interesting piece which called for reflections. Elena's violin part is truly idiomatic. We have loved to be part of this project! The Solo Organ works have a wonderful mood alternating between darkness and light; a Northern atmosphere contrasting the earthly vs. the spiritual." Elena Saccomandi & Walter Gatti

"I like Jonathan's music! It is very melodic, and has a fascinating harmonic structure, with features of Romanticism and vivid imagery. At the same time, it is created in a modern language, and has a clear formHis cello works are beautifully written, very professionally, with brilliant knowledge of the specifics of the instrument. It is interesting and pleasant to perform them, and the instrumental techniques used require high skills from the cellist. Jonathan's music finds a lively response from the listener!" Prof. Alexander Zagorinsky
