

Barbara Karaśkiewicz – piano, Michał Rot - piano,
Dagmara Swystun – violin, Sergei Rysanov – cello

A new album of chamber works by Sergei Rachmaninov.

This outstanding recording was made at two venues in Poland: the Łódź Academy of Music, and the Czestochowa Philharmony. The principal performer is pianist Barbara Karaśkiewicz who has made several highly praised recordings for Divine Art (and before that the esteemed Polish label Acte Preamble). She performs two piano duos with her musical partner Michał Rot. The chamber works are played by the Huberman Piano Trio whose Divine Art recording of 20th Century Chamber music was also acclaimed by critics.

Both the performances and the perfectly engineered recording offer a sumptuous program of Rachmaninov that will delight listeners.

The Huberman Trio was formed at the initiative of Barbara Karaśkiewicz, named in honour of the great Polish artist Bronislaw Huberman, famed for his performances and transcriptions of works by Chopin and others.

The Classical Reviewer

"This is a valuable new release of music that deserves to be heard. Many of these pieces would sit well in any recital. The recording is close and detailed with a fine piano tone. The booklet is well up to Divine Art's usual high standards with excellent booklet notes from Barbara Karaśkiewicz." —Bruce Reader

DDA 25151 - Karol Szymanowski: Piano Music
Music Voice (Italy)

"Polish pianist Barbara Karaskiewicz shows that she can master all of the heterogeneous aspects of Szymanowski's styles... a perfect technical and stylistic maturity. The recording is characterized by a full and wide sound.... [and] has a natural glow without application of additional effects." —Edmondo Filippini

Huberman Piano Trio:
